Bullying can take place in person, through notes left on desks or lockers, text messages, or online via email or social media. It can range from verbal insults to physical violence, and usually occurs over an extended period of time.

Problems Muslim Students Face:
- Pulling of headscarf or kufi.
- Pressure to convert to another religion.
- Insulting comments about Islam made in the classroom.
- Physical abuse.

You have the right to wear your hijab or kufi at public school, even if there is a dress code or uniform requirement. If you do not wish to participate in school activities that would require you to remove your hijab, such as swimming, your school must provide an alternative activity for you.

Schools MUST make their bullying policy public.

Schools MUST prohibit bullying based on religion, race, and nationality.

Schools MUST have a process in place for investigating complaints of bullying. If you tell a teacher or another adult at school that you are getting bullied, they have to do something to help you.

State law requires your school to protect you from harassment and discrimination.
People at school would understand that even when they joke about calling me a terrorist, I don’t really think it’s funny.”

“I WISH that people would understand that although my parents raised me Muslim, they didn’t make me wear hijab. It was my choice.

Some Muslim students have reported that teachers treat them differently based on their faith or country of origin.

Some people make fun of me for wearing the hijab and think I look weird.

“Some people make fun of my name. It makes me angry.”

MUSLIM STUDENTS IN THEIR OWN WORDS

STEPS YOU CAN TAKE

- Use any ignorance you encounter as an opportunity to educate others about your beliefs. But if someone repeatedly makes offensive comments about Islam, report it.
- Learn more about and be proud of your faith.
- Volunteer to give a presentation on Islam on school-sponsored diversity days.
- Know that your real friends will stand by you.

DO’S AND DON’TS IF YOU ARE BULLIED

DO...
- Report to a teacher or other trusted adult at school; your school has a legal responsibility to protect you.
- Let your parents know if you are being bullied or know of someone who is being bullied.
- If a teacher makes a false statement about Islam, respectfully raise the issue during or after class.
- Any of the following situations occur, report it to your parents and the principal:
  - A teacher prohibits or punishes you for wearing your hijab or kufi.
  - A teacher makes fun of your name, country of origin, or religion, even in a joking way.
  - A teacher suggests that you should convert to a different religion.
- If someone makes fun of you for your name, country of origin, or religion, even in a joking way, a teacher suggests that you should convert to a different religion.

DON’T...
- Feel ashamed or embarrassed. It is not your fault.
- Retaliate with violence or name-calling: this could result in you being punished, rather than the bully.

WORKING WITH TEACHERS

CAIR can advise you on how to address your situation.
- CAIR can accompany you to meetings with administrators or contact them on your behalf.
- CAIR can help you file a complaint if school administrators aren’t taking effective action to stop the bullying.
- CAIR can help connect you to counseling services to deal with the stress of bullying.
- CAIR can help connect you to resources about your faith, which you can share with administrators and teachers.
- Even if you do not wish for CAIR to take action in your situation, it is still important to report what is happening, especially if your situation is like something described above. The more CAIR knows about what Muslim youth at school face, the better equipped the community can be to solve problems.

DO NOT...
- Cut yourself off and think you must handle bullying by yourself.
- Talk to a parent, a teacher, or another adult you trust. They are your allies.
